The SATERN group will be the same and have a chain of command with duties assigned. Members will be requested to send monthly volunteer hours (including travel time), and any communications to the assigned leader. Notification email addresses will be sent to members. Future deployments and activities will be communicated by these fine leaders. The KC Metro and Wichita will be better served with a leadership in place. When you see these volunteer leaders shake their hand and thank them for taking on these extra duties.

Who are we and how we work?

An expanding Army

1886 saw William's first overseas trip to North America "to survey the distant front and to encourage the loyalists."

In 1888 the Booths moved again, this time to Hadley Wood, in the hope that it would help cure Catherine who had been taken ill. But the diagnosis turned out to be a serious one: she had cancer. William reflected years later that:

"I was stunned. I felt as if the whole world was coming to a standstill... I was due in Holland for some large meetings. I had arranged to travel there that very night. She would not hear of my remaining home for her sake...To go home was anguish. To be away was worse. Life became a burden, almost too heavy to be borne, until God in a very definite manner comforted my heart."

Death of Catherine

On October 4, 1890, Catherine was 'promoted to Glory' from Clacton-on-Sea. This was a deep blow to William: Catherine had been his closest companion and had been a considerable force in Army life, known for her effective oratory and powerful intellect.

In Darkest England

The same month, Booth published his social manifesto, 'In Darkest England and the Way Out'. He explored various ideas such as providing food and shelter for the poor, helping the disadvantaged learn agricultural trades, and assisting people in search of a better life to emigrate. From this point on, the Army's mission became two-pronged: to provide social salvation, as well as proclaiming personal salvation.

In the 1890s Booth immersed himself again in his first love: preaching and evangelism. Day-to-day control of the Army was therefore passed to his oldest son, Bramwell.

High Frequency Radio Nets

SATERN (Salvation Army Team Emergency Radio Network) provides emergency communications support to the Salvation Army wherever needed on site, at the local level, via VHF/UHF Nets. During wide-spread emergencies (hurricanes, earthquakes, forest fires, etc.), the 14.265 MHz Net becomes emergency traffic and Health & Welfare Net providing tactical assistance to those on site and handling outgoing Health & Welfare messages. The 14.265 MHz Net is generally on the air from 1200Z to approximately 0100Z during times of wide-spread emergency. Check our web site at www.saturn.org to determine the alert status of the SATERN Net.
